SHORT COURSES
AT M. C. M. FOR PRACTICAL MEN

Notable Addition to the Institution's Scope of Operations

The Michigan College of Mines announces a notable expansion of its courses of study. It will offer what may be termed a scheme of special short courses for practical men. It is going to offer to the workman, or smelter employee what he particularly wants to learn about the line of work which interests him.

The entrance qualifications for these special courses are extremely simple, a man must be able to read and write the English language to a fair degree of proficiency, he must be of good character and must have had experience in practical work.

The number of courses to be given has not been limited. There will be courses in mining, metallurgy, drawing, mapping, practical calculation, concrete construction and many others.

The work is to be arranged to suit the needs of the men taking it. The aim is to give the man what he wants, to teach him what he needs to know in order to advance or become skilled in his chosen line.

Advertising the Courses.

Advertisements are being run in the technical journals all over the country announcing the short courses. They read something like the following:

"Since leaving college you have often thought of study in some line which would contribute to your efficiency, and therefore to your advancement.

"Do present conditions give you an opportunity to take up such study?"

"If so, you will be interested in the fact that the Michigan College of Mines will, during the coming year, pay particular attention to men who intend to take courses for such special purposes. Write to its president telling him just what you would like to take up."

The foregoing is directed toward the man who has had some college training. Something like the following announces what the college is preparing to do for the man who has had no college training:

"If you have denied college training but have reached a place where something of the kind seems necessary to your further advancement in the mine, the mill, the shop or the smelter you should know about the special short courses which the Michigan College of Mines at Houghton, is offering. This year with particular reference to your needs.

"They are short, practical courses in mining, metallurgy, drawing, mapping, concrete construction and many others."

This opportunity for specialization it is thought may appeal to many technically trained men who in their practical experience have seen very keenly the limitations of their training in certain branches.

President McNair was interviewed regarding requirements.

"They will be of two classes," said Dr. McNair. "The first will be educational. We will require that the man be able to read and write the English language to a fair degree of proficiency."

"The second will require that a man be of good character and have had experience in mine, mill, smelter, shop and the like."

"We do not want and will not admit the high school boy who can get training in his own school. For him at that stage the excellent high schools of this country are far better than anything we can give him. After he has been 'out' and has learned his needs through practical experience we will be ready to take him."

"They will all be short courses and

CIRCUIT COURT
REOPENS MONDAY

First Case on Docket Is People Vs Lloyd Lyman

The September term of the Houghton county circuit court will reconvene Monday morning at 9 o'clock at which time jurors have been ordered to report. The first case on the docket is that of Lloyd Lyman, a former deputy sheriff, charged with assault with intent to kill. It is alleged that Lyman, during a riot at Red Jacket, shot a striker, named Mihelich. The man was not injured seriously and his recovery was rapid. He has since left this district.

The Strang and Johnson case, the second on the docket, is well remembered by residents of the copper country and considerable interest is attached to this trial. It is another of the cases growing out of the strike. The two men are charged with murder. It is alleged they shot John Laflita, early in January, the effects of which caused the death during the following month.

One peculiar feature of this case is the fact that the men were first arrested on a charge of murder and given a hearing in Justice Eichkern's court in Hancock. They were dismissed as Justice Eichkern considered the evidence produced not sufficient to hold them. They were then re-arrested and bound over to the circuit court on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. They were given a jail sentence by Judge O'Brien, which they served. It then was presumed that the matter was ended, that if they had killed Laflita it was in self defense and that their punishment for carrying concealed weapons would close the affair. Prosecuting Attorney Lucas had the men again arrested on a charge of murder as originally intended, stating that additional evidence in the case had been discovered by him. They were then bound over to the circuit court.

No Word Regarding Motion.

No word has been received from Judge Flannigan as yet as to whether the motion for a new trial in the case of Joshua Cooper, Arthur Davis, John Groff and Edwin Polkshorne, convicted for the murder of Steve Patrick, will be granted.

Motion for Change of Venue.

Another case that is being watched with interest is that of the People versus John Hagha, Nick Verbanac, Valmer Yalonen and John Juntinen, charged with the murder of Arthur and Harry Juge and Thomas Dally at Painesdale the morning of December 7. Attorney LeGendre of the Western Federation of Miners has announced that he will ask for a change of venue in this trial and Judge O'Brien later announced that he had decided to withdraw from the case and would secure another judge to hear the motion. The motion will be heard September 21 in the circuit court of this county but Judge O'Brien has not announced as yet who will hear the motion or try the case.

Annie Clemens Gets Divorce.

Mrs. Annie Clemens of Calumet, who attained considerable notoriety during the strike last year, was granted a decree of divorce from her husband, Joseph Clemens, yesterday afternoon. The alleged grounds were non-support of the plaintiff claiming that her husband has not lived with her since last April.

will probably run coincident with the regular college terms so that a special man will not have to undertake too long a term of work. The courses will be five, ten, eleven or twelve weeks in length."

FARMHOUSE IS DESTROYED.

Steinback Residence at Oskar Burns to the Ground.

A six-room house on the Steinback farm at Oskar was burned to the ground late Wednesday evening. Owing to the lack of fire fighting apparatus, the neighbors were handicapped and their efforts were confined to the saving of adjoining buildings.

Superintendent Edward Koepel of the Freda mills was on his way home from Hancock and was passing the Steinback farm when he discovered the house was on fire. Seeing it would be useless to try and extinguish the fire, efforts were concentrated on saving a horse and the farm machinery.

TRIMMOUNTAIN MINER KILLED

A fall of ground yesterday morning in No. 4 shaft of the Trimmountain mine resulted in the death of Giuseppe Pappalardo, aged twenty. The only relative in this district is a brother, Olinde of Trimmountain, the parents residing in Italy. The unfortunate young man came to Trimmountain last March from Crystal Falls to that place he came from Italy about a year ago. The funeral will take place Sunday morning.

Street Commissioner Gibson has a crew of men at work repairing the road on Huron street, leading to the county building.

BELIEVE COUNTY FAIR WILL IMPROVE FARM CONDITIONS

PROMOTERS PREDICT ENTRY OF CHILDREN WILL BE BOON TO AGRICULTURE.

Members of the Houghton County Agricultural society are of the opinion that the forthcoming fair will enhance the agricultural prospects of the copper country, basing their supposition on the fact that there are a large number of school children entered in the corn and potato growing contests. Entries in the senior contest, which is open to every individual in the upper peninsula, are also increasing and the promoters feel that this is an excellent indication that agriculture is becoming one of the foremost industries in this district.

A greater number of school children have exhibited interest in the corn and potato growing contest and samples of the corn and potatoes grown by them will be exhibited at the fair. The corn contest is open to school children only and for the best six ears of corn a grand prize of a $25 gold medal will be given. A second grand prize in the form of a $15 medal also will be given and each entrant will receive 25 cents for placing his corn on exhibit.

Regular prizes will be given as follows: First prize, $3; second prize, $2; ten prizes of $1 each.

In the potato contest for school children the same rules apply. The Sir Walter Raleigh variety is the only potato that will be accepted as an exhibit. Prizes in this contest are as follows:

First prize, $10; second prize, $5; third prize, $3; fourth prize, $2; twenty prizes of $1 each.

The senior corn growing contest is somewhat different from the above mentioned contests. Each contestant must plant and care for one-sixteenth of an acre of corn and ten of the best ears of corn must be placed on exhibit at the fair and a written report given to the fair secretary showing the results obtained.

A sweepstakes prize of the value of $100 in the shape of a free scholarship at the Dunbar School of Agriculture, near Sault Ste. Marie, is offered by the directors of that school for the best results obtained and the best report made to the secretary of the fair. A cash prize of $10 is offered by John W. Black of Houghton for the second best results. Other prizes will be as follows:

Third prize, $5; fourth prize, $5; twelve prizes on $1 each.

URGES TEACHING OF UP-TO-DATE HISTORY IN SCHOOLS

STATE SUPERINTENDENT KEELER ADVOCATES PRESENT DAY GEOGRAPHY.

Superintendent Fred L. Keeler sends the following message to the boys and girls of Michigan:

"Boys and girls, do you know that the big war that is going on in Europe offers you a splendid educational opportunity? As you read the papers and magazines carefully you should have a good map of Europe—yes, and one of the world—before you."

"You may learn much about geography by looking up every place mentioned and finding all that you can about it. You should try to study out the geographical, racial, historical and political causes of the only general European war since Napoleon Bonaparte raised such a rumpus."

"You will want to read all you can of the history of Europe. You will want to know about the Slavic, Teutonic, Latin and Anglo-Saxon races."

"You will want to know about the people and institutions of each nation and its strength on land and sea."

"Now will be a good time to find out about the trade route to India, Alsace and Lorraine, neutrality, reservists, contraband of war, the rules governing the capture of ships at sea, blockade, and other rules of warfare, and about many other subjects that are mentioned in the papers."

"You should be brought to see how closely all parts of the world are now related and how the war affects the United States and how its influence extends even to your town or city."

"And you cannot fail to realize what an awful thing is war and how wasteful and foolish is such a horrible conflict."

EAT SPARROWS HE SAYS.

Audubon Society is Told They Are Excellent Food.

"Under the stress of the high cost of living, why not use the English sparrow as an article of diet?" was the observation of Joseph H. Dodson, of Chicago, in an address before the Michigan Audubon society at its meeting in Grand Rapids. Mr. Dodson argued that the sparrow made a dish fit for a king if properly prepared and emphasized his argument by stating that he knew what he was talking about because his wife knew just how to prepare and serve the bird which had given so much concern to observers of bird life.

Several prominent members of the Michigan Audubon society have arrived in Grand Rapids. Under the direction of Judge Harry L. Crosswell, president of the Grand Rapids Audubon society a tour of the city and vicinity has taken in automobiles. Among other places of interest visited was Hodsden park, which constitutes a bird preserve which is to become a model for the protection and breeding of feathered tribes if the views of the members of the Grand Rapids Boulevard association are carried out.

REUNION PLANS ABANDONED.

County Juggles Postpone Gathering for Another Year.

The proposed reunion of copper country Eagles which was to have been held at South Range this year, will be postponed for another year, and a report to this end will be submitted to the county committee shortly. This is the second summer that the reunion has been dropped because of extraordinary circumstances. The strike a year ago put the quietus on the proposed celebration, and the European war this summer did likewise.

If the men were working full time the celebration would undoubtedly be held, but under the circumstances the committee did not believe Eagles that men working only part of the time would feel like taking a day off, especially so with winter coming on.

"We hope the war will be over in a few months and that our reunion next year can be held," said a member of the committee yesterday morning. "Things are picking up nicely now but the season is getting late and it has been deemed advisable to wait another year."
